In philosophy and theology, the practice of selecting doctrines from different systems of thought without adopting the whole parent system of the doctrine is considered eclecticism.

North Alumni

Why is it that students cannot wait to get out of high school, but once they are out in the real world, they cannot wait to come back? It seems as though everyday you can walk down the hallway and see students or parents that have graduated from North in the past. The alumni from North help make up the cheering fans during football season and assist in other sporting events or extracurricular activities. These happy faces and encouraging words give the students what they might need to succeed. Some of the alumni include students' very own parents or grandparents, teachers and other staff members or friends they have known since grade school. Whichever it may be, all of these important people were involved in what makes our school what it is today. For example, the North Salem High School sign at the corner of 14th and D streets donated by the class of 1969. Keep an eye out for all of the things that give character to our school such as our softball field to our hallway that we use each and every day.

Environmental Learning Center

Layout by Annie Alexander

The Newest Addition to North Salem High School

Hey all you environmental studies students, in case you haven't noticed, North Salem's Environmental Learning center is now up and running. This building, which is located near Olinger Pool is now acting as the classroom for Sophomore Biology, Field Biology, and Natural Resources Community Applications students.

The Environmental Learning Center has been a work in progress for seven to eight years and was completed over the summer. It was an $850,000 project that was helped along by many people and organizations, notably a committee of school faculty as well as several past and present principals of North.

Every penny and dose of hard work paid off. This building possesses some amazing features that you definitely would not find in your average school building.

"This is pretty current technology," Mr. Yoder stated.

One of these unusual features is that the brightness outside constitutes how bright the lights are inside. The lights are also controlled by motion detectors which, as I was warned by Mr. Yoder, may or may not go off while you're in the bathroom. To make it even more 21st century, all the functions of the building are computerized. All this among other things earned North's Environmental Learning Center LEEDS certification. Mr. Yoder explained this certification signifies that the building has a minimal effect on the environment.

When asked whether or not this new classroom setting would change the way classes are structured, Mr. Yoder responded enthusiastically.

"Not so much for Sophomore Biology," he stated. But then he quickly went on to say that Field Biology will have a much easier time in their study. He said because their classroom is right in the environment they're studying, they won't have to worry about the long walk from the school everyday. "They'll have more time to spend outside."

Out of the project was created a new organization called The Friends of the Environmental Learning Center, which is now responsible for planning and organizing the activities of the building--for the school and the community. Indeed, when not in use by students at North, this group is holding events that serve the community. Events include lectures, an environmental conference, adult ecology, and family science nights.

This is certainly another reason we have to take pride in our Viking heritage. It will be enjoyed by the science classes at North for years to come, and we can say that we were the first ones to experience it.

Mr. Yoder said with a smile. "This is a great facility for students to be able to use…not many students across the country have something like this in their backyard."

The Clarion: 100 years

Excerpt from an early Clarion:

Salem has never been known to the High School world because she has never had a good High School paper. Hereafter the "Clarion" will expound in clear and full tones that Salem has a High School with plenty of good High School spirit and a good paper to announcew hat we are doing.

We will be glad to exchange with any high school paper in the state. Let them come.

This is our first attempt and hope we will not be too closely criticized by other school papers of the state, although we are glad to receive hints at any time that way make our paper better.

Teacher Al Zeek in 1981.

Teacher Stu Chalupsky in 1981.

We students and staff at North Salem enjoy the company of each other to maintain a stable environment. The longest working teachers here at North are Mr. Zeek (29), Mrs. Storey (29), and coming in third with Mr. Chalupsky(28). Two of these teachers are choosing to retire this year right along with Mrs. Kufner, and also Mrs. Edgar who has left us. Our school has been a wonderful place, partly because of these teachers who have taught us so much.

"My very first day at North Salem High School, I knew it would be my home for a rest of my life." How true was this for Mr. Stuart Chalupsky. When he began teaching here in 1977, Stu had no idea that he would have this school as his home for the next 28 years.

Al Zeek has been here even longer than the years he has taught. Zeek was a Graduate of North Salem High school in the year of 1971. He thought that North always held to a good atmosphere for learning and growing for socializing. "The students usually show respect to the teachers whether they are goofing off or not", says Zeek as we asked him what he thought about the student body. "We are going to miss all of his practical jokes and immaturity" but as Coach Blus states, "Some may call it immaturity but I prefer to call it playfulness."

As the years go by, more teachers will come and go and most we will dearly miss, but the teachers to whom are retiring in the year 2005 will never be forgotten. Now you all can take those long vacations you have always dreamed of taking and never had the time to do them because you were stuck at home on the weekends grading papers. So long!

Physical Education teacher Al Zeek in his retiring year of 2005.

Art teacher Stu Chalupsky in his retiring year of 2005.

Although these fellow Viking staff members are moving on from NSHS, they leave behind them a legacy of wisdom and kindness.

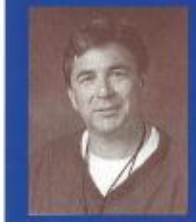
The Final Word

"My very first day at North Salem High School I knew North would be my home for a reason of my life."
~Stu Chalupsky~



"Counting my years as a student, I have spent parts of five decades at North Salem. That should be enough for anybody!"
~Al Zeek~

"My husband and I share a love for car rallies. I hope they will be more often now that I will be a lady of leisure. Yeah!!!!!"
~Bonnie Kufner~

Even though Tomasina Edgar is not retiring this year, she is leaving us. Her life will be contined in Virginia with her husband who is in the Navy. Although she has left us, we will remember her smiling face and encouraging words she always had for North Salem High School students and staff.

Viking Football 2004

The fury of a loss
In a 50 yard toss
A tip, a slip, and mere pick
Led to a shriek and made some sick
A student body waiting to rush
Left with denial and a scattered hush

A torn field caught tears from above
As young men saw what a family they'd become
What truths are found from a bewildering fall?
That these men were the strongest of all

Their thoughts and dreams,
though perceived to be lost
Bought pride and honor at a diminutive cost
A mint ear of North Salem High
Had begun that day in the murky autumn sky

The Family then Cary'ed the flag
Of ye North Football, beaten and ragged
Through wind and chill without a blur
Vikings will persist and endure

They ice their pain away,
but the thought will remain
They united a School that will never be the same

Unforgettable

Last summer during the Bite of Salem I was with Larissa & Janelle. We had to cross a cross-walk before entering the Bite. I was in a great mood so I didn't want to wait for my turn to cross. I very happily full on skipped across the cross-walk. When we were all together we enetered the Bite. I was then approached by a police officer. I was first questioned along with Janelle about my reckless driving since we fit a discription given earlier. Once cleared from that, I was approached by another police officer, this time in regaurds to my skipping across the street. After many questions asked, I was then ticketed with a $94 fine for J-walking. ~Kathryn Batchelor

One morning I had to take my colorguard flags to school. When Nikki picked me up, we realized that my flages were too big to fit in her car. We had to to have them stick out the window. We had gotten about a block away from my house when I let go of my flags and they got caught in the wind and started flying out the window. One end went out the window and the other went smacked us in the back on the head. When we finally realized what had hit us we were laughing so hard we could barely stop the car. ~Crystal Norton

This summer we were driving around with Tessa, when Sara and I spotted this girl walking down the street... I leaned my whole body out the window and shouted something rather impolite at her. Just as she turned to see who had shouted, Sara threw a Jo-Jo with ranch. The Jo-Jo smacked the girl right in the face, but the ranch sprayed back at Sara and I. ~Larissa Dean and Sara Do.

Bowling baby's car into a pole, playing bartender with salt, salt and the baseball boys jumping into Olinger pool with the A-team wearing sprinkler and a sports bra and getting in trouble for not taking a shower first; when Mr. Ward gave us doughnuts and was happy. If I'm such a mind freak why are people throwing peanuts at you?

Aaron, D.J., Larissa and I were all sitting in Deister's AP History class, really bored and talking. While we were talking Aaron convinced me that no one coughed before world war one, that we cough because of the toxic gasses in the air from the war. I was so impressed that I announced it to the class, everyone started laughing and Deister just said that he didn't think that was accurate. ~Tessa Barrons

The Civil War game against South, we had scored our first touchdown Tessa and I were jumping up & down on the bleachers. When all of a sudden Tessa lost her balance and started falling backwards. The only thing she could grab on to was me, and we both fell off the bleachers. ~Nikki Brown

Senior year, Tessa, Nikki, Crystal, Molly, & I were looking at the Kelzer Lights. We were playing "Chinese Fire Drill," when all of us jumped in except Nikki. Tessa accidently locked the doors, but Nikki's window was still open. Nikki tried to wedge herself into the car through the window, but only managed to fall on her butt when Tessa slammed on the brakes. ~ Konrad Juengling

One Friday I was chilling after school waiting for the game start when I had to go to the bathroom. I entered the girls bathroom and noticed boy shoes underneath the stalls. I asked if there was a guys in the bathroom and one replied "shh." Then toilets flushed and five football players walked out of the stalls, Matt & Kyle, Brett, and two others. They said they were making their mark in the girls bathroom. ~Molly Cox

Junior year I had a weight training. I shower everyday when we get out. While I was in the shower someone stolen my wonderful outfit. I had to wear a shirt and shorts that Ramirez gave me. ~Buck Wise

Memories

In 8th grade, I left the class and while I was gone Sadie, Courtney, and some other kids in the class convinced Mrs. Hicks that I had been doing the "deed." When I got back everyone was looking at me and laughing. Then Mrs. Hicks walked up and asked me if we needed to have a talk about the "birds and the bees." I was totally oblivious as to why she would be asking me that. ~Annie Alexander

Sophomore year Tessa, Crystal, Britta, Molly, Amber, & I wanted to go TP with Tessa's friend Aaron. He took us to his friend's house where we began to TP, but didn't do a very good job. We heard the phone ring and the hose turn on, Aaron's friends started spraying us with the hose. We ran, Molly fell and got a bucket of water dumped on her. ~Jack-Lynn Straba

Tessa with the ball with the Jerkins. ~Emily Shea

I went to the beach with Crystal and Nikki but when we got there it was raining. We drove all the way to Newport looking for a Baskin Robbins. It was so cold, we only got out of the car a few times and never found a Baskin Robbins. ~Michelle Salsbery

Football games are the best at North. One game Kenny and Rachel were acting like cheerleaders. They got the whole crowd going and cheering it was great. Another time I had war paint on my face to respent school spirit. I'm going to miss this school so much. ~Amanda Maroney

After the South Albany wrestling tournament Amber, her dad and I were racing to the cars it was really dark and we didn't see the chain going across the parking lot. Ms. Hughes hit the chain first right across the middle then I flipped over it because he locked in high. Amber was in last place, she saw us hit it and stopped and laughed hysterically. Ms. Hughes was on the ground rolling around in pain and I was in so much pain I couldn't get up. Jennifer Griffin

This year I was part of "Men In Scrubs," we went to Doernbecker Hospital in Portland. We worked with the doctors and nurses. I got to work in Pediatrics with little infants. ~ Matt Maroney

BEFORE I CAME TO NORTH I ATTENDED SALEM ACADEMY. I WENT WITH THE WRESTLING TEAM TO CALIFORNIA. I WAS ABLE TO HANG OUT WITH JENNIFER FOR TWO DAYS STRAIGHT. WE TOOK A WALK THROUGH THE REDWOODS. THAT TRIP KICKED OFF THE BEST RELATIONSHIP I HAVE HAD IN MY HIGH SCHOOL CAREER. ZACH HOLT

Some friends and I were hanging out at Annie's playing Outburst. It was my turn to guess answers to 'ways of transportation'. I was given the hint: how skateboarders get around. I shouted SNOWBOARD! Not realizing the hint I was given because I was too busy thinking of an answer. ~Diana Ernst

David, Mark, Elias, and I went to Silverton Reservoir and slid down the day. On the way down Elias ripped his pants. David fell off the innertube and rolled down the day. ~Richard Crafts

A disease causing laziness and inability to concentrate affecting millions of seniors every year.

The largest disease known in educational history is Senioritis. this herendous epidemic is found in millions of graduationg seniors across the nation. It captivates all body functions right down to the ability to get out of bed in the morning. Many teachers agree with Mr. Gilman who says, "Senioritis is a lame excuse to be lazy and slack off the few monthes before graduation." It comes to a shock to all of us to think that our honorable seniors are being accused of that. Just look at how hard everyone is working.

Signs and symptoms

- ••Lack of motivation to get out of bed and attend class.
- ••Feelings of isolation in class and during school hours.
- ••Inability to concentrate on homework, projects, reading assignments etc.
- ••Feeling that your work might be a relief from school.
- ••When teachers and administrators talk, you see their lips moving but what they're saying doesn't make a lot of sense (some say their words sound like high pitched monkey screams.)
- ••Being tired, cranky and Feaful of losing control and sanity all together.
- ••Day dreams and unrealistic thoughts (I.E. what if Star Wars was real….)
- ••Inability to finish what you sta…..
- ••Panic caused by the mention of the senior project

Holiday Spirit 2004

Above: Two students showing that they helped.

The holiday season! It's a time to give and a time to show how much you care for the people around you. It's the most selfless time of the year. This holiday is the number one card selling time of the year. This year our administration spread the holiday cheer by going to each classroom dressed up in holiday attire. They then would pass out candy canes to all the students. This is a tradition that is done every year.The students however spread the holiday spirit in a different way.By raising money and collecting non perishable foods, most of the second block classes would make this holiday season a lot happier for the less fortunate families.

North Salem High School had great success in this food basket fundraiser. In fact, North collected the most money and the most food for their families than any other school in our district did. Our holiday was a great one thanks to the courage our administration had to dress up the way they did, and for the students amazing donations put forth to this good cause. Happy Holidays!

School pride is something North Salem students have never had a problem aquiring, and it shows in everything they do. From the hall decorating comptition, to dressing up to show their spirit and finally winning the homecoming football game really does show how dedicated to this school we are. North Salem High School is a great place to be.

As people danced the night away at homecoming, they danced to the sound of victory. After a great defeat over West Albany of 17-0, people went to have fun at the Homecoming Dance. That isn't the only aspect of homecoming though. There are many events leading up to the game and dance. Such as the assembly where the king and queen are announced who was Sara Do and Dan Clark this year, followed by a parade later that evening. The parade was consisted of many eclectic things about North Salem High School.The procession rolled from the Lancaster Mall parking lot down D street to the school where they were already waiting for victory.
During the half-time show, our awesome marching band and colorgaurd performed and the parade procession followed.

FRIENDS

Courtney and Annie having fun at the beach.

Blake and Kenny sportin' their gear.

One of the most memorable things about high school is the times you share with your friends. They are a key element of your life, which makes it hard to get by without them. High school can be a bumpy road for most people, but the ride is a lot smoother when you have friends to share it with along the way. We depend on our friends to be there for us just as well as our friends depend on us to be there for them.

Friends will definitely come and go throughout our lives but it is all those special memories that we have with our friends that we must hold onto and cherish for the rest of our lives. Annie Alexander and Courtney McFadden have been friends since the 7th grade. They have shared many good times together along with their group of friends. "The times when Court and I went to the beach together were the best. She's a funny girl and we always have so much fun and just laugh and laugh when we are together," Annie shares when asked about the fun times with friends during high school.

"Best friends are great to have. I don't know what I would do if I hadn't ever met Lea. We've been friends since the 4th grade and plan to be friends forever. I think everyone deserves a friend like lea!" Vanessa Kitchin explains about her best friend Lea Hummel.

Vanessa and Lea lounge around.

Alberto Bramb[illegible] Kessinger, and [illegible] share a moment.

Blake Ramseyer gives a brief description of one of the greatest things about his and Kenny Hartline's friendship. "Kenny and I have known each other since kindergarten, but have been like brothers since the 5th grade. The coolest thing about our friendship was in the 5th grade, when I called Kenny George and he called me Johnny. We have been saying it ever since. REVRAND!!" Blake makes it obvious that friends are the best things to have. You can joke with them and have your own funny inside jokes that nobody may understand but you two, but it doesn't matter what others will think because you have your friends who understand you and thats all that matters.

It is plain to see that friendships are important to have. Our friends play a big role in our lives and contribute to molding us into the people we become. Whether they leave our lives just as quickly as they entered or stick around for the long haul, the times that are shared will always be remembered.

Below: Brandon celebrates his 18th birthday this year as well.

Everyone has them, once a year. Yes, birthdays. We look forward to them all year to get one year closer to getting out of the house. Whether it be in the winter and celebrate it by sitting in school, stuck or during the summer where to get to party in the sun. A popular way to celebrate the extra number added to your age is by watching movies with your closest buddies. Yet, there are many other options, such as a night out on the town or ice skating in Portland. There are plenty of ways to celebrate your special day.
Michael Farr's favorite birthday memory was on a missions trip when he was given his 15 birthday spankings with a spatula in Donnelly,Idaho. Birthdays are full of memories, so make the best of them.

~Larissa Dean, Senior, Orange Julias~

"I didn't know how to void the credit card machine, so I had this lady sign the slip about six times!"
~Genna Nunez, Senior, Great Harvest~

"Over the summers I lifeguard at Keneiko Pool at Willamette University. I love it, because while most people work for their money, all I have to do is sit there, listen to music, eat the free food, tan, and watch the hotties. Its a hard life."
-Konrad Juengling, Senior, Willamette University-

"I had a couple of co-workers with me and I was behind the counter when this 45-50 year old guy straight up asked me to dinner. I told him that I was 17 and he accused me of lying!"
~Alex Morrison, Senior, Oak Knolls~

Have you ever felt that your pocket was empty or that your wallet was a little flat? Usually this means that you are out of money and Daddy just isn't lending out his plastic any longer. The majority of students find a solution for this cash problem with finding employment. Students at North have a large array of jobs: from daycare assistant or secretary to lifeguarding or flipping burgers, the money that comes in is usaully worth the hours. This comes in handy with the Senior costs that plague the upper classmen and make shopping a better experience since students can afford more.

Whether they are filing papers at the State office or baking bread, supporting the economy through work and spending is how most Seniors are breaking into the real world.

Fashions and Fads

Presented by Senior Konrad Juengling

What inspires your original style?
Ariana Fenton (9): I wanted to be unique from everyone else to break away from stereotypes, and I have been surprised at all the positive comments I've gotten.

What is the most expensive thing you have ever worn or accessorized with?
Alex Morrison (12): The $1500 Christian Dior purse that my Aunt let me borrow for a night of decadence on the town.

Whether you stomp into NSH with army-regulation knee-high boots or you are constantly on the lookout for all things chic and savvy, you have a sense of style that defines who you are. The things that we don each morning before class lets others know how we want to be seen and gives off those everlasting first impressions. Some students take their sense of style out of the mainstream and display something that happens to be eye-catching and original; no matter who you are, even your everyday clothes make an impression and send out a message of how much attention you want and the kind of person you are.

There are hundreds of different styles that can only be represented with a dizzying array of people. Stores have sprung up catering to every taste and fashion. Here at NSH, we get a sampling of those each day when we step through the front doors. There are stocking caps, whalebone earrings, stiletto heels, six-foot scarves and fishnet leggings just to name a few. This year, Louis Vuitton knockoff bags became popular, along with short skirts, Aeropostale, and LiveStrong bracelets.

There will always be a new fashion or fad to follow, but as Ariana Fenton would say, "I'm tired of everyone looking the same - like clones."

Katie Hardy, Vanessa Stockton and Laurel Allen(Seniors) show off the latest trend for this year: low shirts and high skirts.

Crowned this year at Winter Court were Konrad Juengling and Arika Hubbard, crowned under an arch of blue and white balloons. The mood of the assembly was set by our own Judi Larson singing "L-O-V-E". Others on court included: Freshmen Chelsea Youngern, Aaron Robinson, Jodi Clark and Jesse Manzo. Sophmores Brittany Ryan, Blaze Itzaina, Mariana Fortune, and Kyle Cox. Juniors Megan Collier, David Petersdorf, Kate Trinh, and Ryan Bendel. And Seniors Becca Johnston, Ben Pearson, Kristie Bell, and Jase Adams.
Yet not everyone was there to celebrate their accomplishment. Mariana Fortune and Kate Trinh were representing North Salem at the District Swim Meet in Corvallis, and Kyle Cox was representing the Viks at Wrestling Districts.
"When they crowned me as king, I thought they were still going over people's heads cause I was light-headed and couldn't feel anything. I then felt my head and touched the crown and I was shocked. It was a great suprise." Konrad Juengling says about being crowned the 2005 Winter Court King.

Snoball 2004

Snoball this year was full of different types of people. Different styles and personalities came together with the common goal to dance and have a good time.
This was the 51st year of Snoball and the tradition continued of the girls asking the guys to Snoball. One tradition that didn't continue this year was where Snoball was held. This year, the dance was held in the Pavilion instead of at the Salem Armory. There was about three times the space for people to dance the night away.

What wasyour favorite moment during RRW? "People's expressions when death followed them around in the halls!" ~Crystal Norton, 12~

Why did you want to participate in RRW? "Because it's a good way to show kids how many people actually die because of drinking and driving." ~Death~

The girls organizing Red Ribbon Week this year wanted to make a big impression, and they did. Every class period about twenty students were pulled out of class, had their faces painted, and they were no longer allowed to talk. They represented all the people who die to drunk driving during the hours you are in school. Scary right?

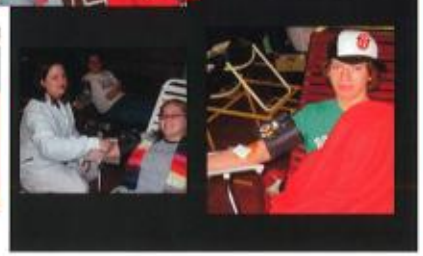
Goblins and ghost, princesses and fairies, cartoon characters and everything in between. This was exactly the sort that attended on the night of October 31. Sound like some kind of weird of alternate universe? Well, this is was exactly the scene at North Salem high school. Every year the different clubs at North and the leadership class work together to put on an event called Safe Halloween. All the kids in North's area are welcome to come in out of the rain and cold to get candy!

This year there were about twenty rooms all decked out for Halloween. This event has been occurring at North for many years and each year seems to get bigger. This year a total of 1000 parents with their kids attended. It was a great success and hope that it continues for years to come.

Blood Drive

"The Blood Drive was a great success as usual, we had the highest participation for a fall drive ever!"
~Ms. Lippmann~

"The Blood Drive was a lot of fun and I saved some lives. I didn't even pass out!"
~Diana Ernst, 12 helper~



Fall Blood Drive was a great success. Beating the goal of collecting 190 units of blood, North Salem High School collected 203 units of blood. That's more than Willamette University collected! This is the most units of blood North has ever collected in a Fall Blood Drive. Not only that, but North collected more blood than any other school in all of Oregon.

Due to the number of sixteen year olds who wanted to donate blood, and the need for more blood, sixteen year olds were aloud to donate blood with the consent of their parents. A special thanks goes out to Ms. Lippmann and her Human Bio class.

SPORTS

VARSITY FOOTBALL

A SEASON TO REMEMBER.

Before the 2004 football season began it was known that North Salem High School had the potential to do some damage in the league. With a new coach, Robert Cary, and a group of eager boys the season started off with a bang. A tremendous coaching staff, teamwork, and fan support contributed to this years success for the Vikings.

Wins over West Salem, Corvallis, West Albany, Crescent Valley, and South Albany put the Vikings in the race to make playoffs. Even after suffering a disappointing loss to rival South Salem, the Vikings never gave up. As the regular season came to an end it was almost another close but no cigar season for the Vikings. Losing to Sprague and McKay in their last two games of the season left North with no control over their own fate. A loss by West Albany landed the Vikings in the fourth playoff seed.

"We finally made it" were the words that were heard throughout the North High halls. After twelve years North had made it to the playoffs and they weren't afraid to celebrate. The celebration continued as the Vikings defeated the Hermiston Bulldogs 27-14 in their first playoff game.

In their second playoff game North would play at home against Central Catholic. The Vikings wouldn't make it to a third playoff game and their dream season came to an end. A Hail Mary pass for a touchdown in the last ten seconds of the game put Central Catholic up 20-17 to win the game.

As the team and fans gathered on the field after the game the sadness and tears showed on their faces. A dream season may have ended a little too soon but there isn't a person who is not proud of these boys for their hardwork and dedication making the 2004 football season the best in years.

What was your most memorable play?

Andy Villastrigo

What are your feelings about Coach Cary?
"He believed in us and he knew what we were capable of as a team."

North's varsity boys soccer team reached playoffs for the third straight year, losing to Roseburg in a game influenced by a rainstorm and lots of mud. The Vikings never gave up and battled to the end trying to score an equalizer. "The team showed great resiliency all year," comments Coach Swartzentruber. Which was clearly evident in their first twelve games when they fell behind eight times and only lost once. They ended the season with a record of 9-4-2. Raul O. Gasca and Vladamir Shalashov both made the Statesman Journal all-region team due to excellent play during the season. Coach Swartzentruber was voted Coach of the year by the Statesman Journal also.

Team honors were awarded to Omar Gascar Most Valuable Player, Most Valuable Midfielder; David Lent- Most Valuable Defender; Vladamir Shalashar Most Valuable Offensive Player; Francisco Padilla- Most Improved; Jose Barajas and Mario Martinez- Coach's award; and Jose Maciel- Most Inspirational.

Cross Country

This fall the cross country team enjoyed a large participant turnout and much success verses top rivals. Under the first-rate coaching of Don Berger, Michael T. Smith, Vickie Mashos and Josyln Steinfeld the Viking team shined! Coaches created difficult workouts for the team, training them for the District meet on October 30th. Viking cross country runners could be seen running hill or 800 meter repeats at Bush Park. Another infamous workout run was Gibson Hill. Gibson Hill has been apart of Viking cross country for decades. This eight mile hill loop begins with two miles of uphill, followed by six more miles of rolling West Salem hills.

Many of the cross country athletes began their training early in the summer. Top Viking runners Ben Pearson, Alex Beeken, Kevin Stich and Jasmine Zimmer-Stucky crossed into Saxson territory to train with their top rivals. Training with the competition is very common in running. Their time running with the Saxsons paid off when the Viking men's team beat South Salem twice! The women's team competed incomplete due to the lack of participants.

The team traveled to Seaside to race in the Three Course Challenge meet, the largest cross country meet in Oregon. Another favorite meet is Trask. Named the most difficult cross country course in America, Trask is 3.1 miles of mud and hills and rivers. Competitors duct tape their shoes on and then race through chest-high rivers, claw up muddy hillsides and jump through three mysterious "grey" mud pits. The Vikings finished the race covered in mud head to toe!

Other great season memories include: Bread Store runs, Jasmine running into a pole, Jared getting called JA-RAD, being a member of the Wolverine Hunting Squad, dancing at Seaside with opposing teams, driving to Minto Brown in the Booberu, parties at Berger's house, eating (limes) at Baja Fresh, singing on the bus, running personal records (Crystal Lake), and "growing" facial hair for the spaghetti dinner.

"Basically... Cross Country is the sweetest thing since sliced bread, except you're running...not eating bread."

Ben Pearson

"I never got my bowl o' chowder!"

Erin Howe

"Erin never beat me; meaning I never had to buy her chowder!"

Jasmine Zimmer-Stucky

How did the season go?
"We had a great season because we beat South and we're going to beat them again next year! YEAH!"

Thomas Bell

What was your best game this season?

"South. We had three Touchdown passes against them and we stomped them!"

Matt Wasson

The Junior Varsity football team worked very hard this year. Joe Cho, who is a new teacher here at North, also became the coach for this year's JV team. He helped the JV team do the best that they could and was dedicated to his team. They won some and lost some games, as most teams do, but the team worked their hardest and made it fun to play. This made for a productive season for all the Viking footballers.

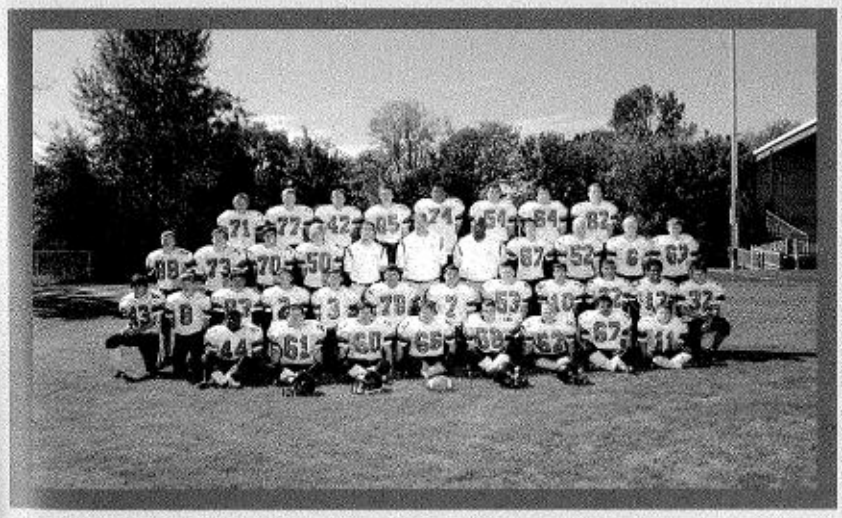
This year the freshmen football team had a rough season. They ended the season with record of 1-8. Their only win was over the Crescent Valley Raiders with a score of 35-0, which was an exciting win for the Viking newcomers. Although their season didn't turn out the way they would have hoped they still stay positive about the season. "Our team was really strong and we had a lot of heart," says Jake Simpson. Better luck next year, boys!

How do you feel the season went?

Juan Benavidez

"Our offense was really strong."



JV1 SOCCER

The Vikings boys JV 1 soccer season went very well for the guys this year. They finished with a season record of 5-2-2 in league and they were 9-3-2 overall. Fourteen out of 20 of the players scored at least one goal. 15 players had assists and the team had 7 shut outs leaving their opponents with no goals. Impressive, wouldn't you say? The guys scored 50 goals all together and scored 27 goals in league. They were only scored on 19 times overall and 12 times in league.

From the looks of it the guys did a fine job this season and they are looking good for next year's varsity squad. Tim Farr, the coach, was pleased as he gives a quote about the season, "A very successful season, and lots of progress. There was a good amount of returning players that will contribute to next year's varsity squad."

It sounds like the Vikings are a big group of athletic stars. The boys will surely be successful next year, as they were this year.

Zach Miller

"The season and team were awesome and we had great team work. Next years team will be even better."

Miguel Cabrera, Samuel Callero, Jeremy Costalez, Thomas Davis, Leonel Duarte, Grant Foster, Jaime Gonzalez, Estevan Jimenez, Saul Jurado, Omar Lua, Bryant McDaniel, Zachary Miller, Jonathan Miranda, David Montiel-Gomez, Omar Munoz, Alan Naranjo, Ascencio Ramirez, Wesley Risenmay, Josue Sanchez, Saul Vallejo Jr., Daniel Vasquez, Ruben Villazana.

Aaron Bergevin, Sam Deleon, Rafael Garcia, David Gibson, Michael Greer, Michael Kendrick, James Martinson, Jose Mendoza, Robert Perea, David Prusse, Matthew Thompson, Yan Yu.

Although the JV 2 Soccer team had a rough season, they pushed forward to do their best. Some of the games were cancelled on the account on the fact that there were not enough players.

Victor Becerra coached this team with great potential. This is going to be a great team in future years and will give the Viks a sense of pride.

Victor is one of the coaches that is not new this year. He will be a great influence this year and for years to come.

North Salem is looking forward to winning seasons in the future with this great team.

Matthew Thompson

"If it doesn't work, break it out of frustration."

"Courtney McFadden, because she was encouraging and a good player."

How do you feel the season went?

Ashley Encminger "We worked hard and made a lot of progress."

Make It a Fun Season

The season started off pretty well for the girls varsity soccer team. The Vikings beat the Dallas Dragons and the Lebanon Raiders winning 2 of 4 of their pre-season games. Although they were only 1-9 in regular season play, with a win over McKay, the girls had fun. They also made a team accomplishment of scoring more goals then the previous year. Returning seniors Courtney McFadden, Ashley Ensminger, and Elissa Ganyard were the team captains. "Through the [captain's] leadership and the talent of sophomore, Jessica Schindel, the lady Vikings won some outstanding matches." Coach Lindsay Everitt compliments her teams confidence and tenacity throughout the season. As for next year, there will be many returning players for the Vikings, which just might be to their advantage. Coach Everitt comments on the play of freshman Amber Urban, "She gives great promise for the future of the Vikings with her strong play in the midfield." The lady Vikings improved their record and scoring average greatly this season and earned themselves the respect of many teams. In the midst of all this they managed to make it a fun season also. Well done ladies!

WHAT THEY HAD TO SAY . . .

"We made progress as a team even though our record didn't show it."

Anya Vignolle

"Overall for the season we improved a lot because everyone played really hard. I hope we can keep improving next year."

Joanne Gasca

GIRLS' JV SOCCER

THE GIRLS' JV SOCCER TEAM IMPROVED A LOT THIS SEASON. THEY IMPROVED NOT ONLY AS A TEAM ON THINGS FROM TEAM WORK TO SIMPLE SKILLS AND TECHNIQUE BUT THEY ALSO IMPROVED ON INDIVIDUAL SKILL ALSO. COACH GANYARD COMMENTED THAT THE GIRLS' TEAM WORK WAS VERY GOOD THIS YEAR. THEIR BEST GAME WAS AGAINST THE DALLAS DRAGONS WHICH WAS A GAME IN WHICH THE GIRLS FOUGHT HARD AND COME OUT ON TOP MAKING IT THEIR FIRST WIN OF THE SEASON. ALTHOUGH THE GIRLS' RECORD WAS 2 WINS 10 LOSES AND 2 TIES THEY KEPT THEIR HEADS HELD THROUGHOUT THE SEASON AND NEVER QUIT.

CHEERLEADING

Cheerleading is one of the great things about sporting events. It brings school spirit and can provide pretty good entertainment during a game. This year cheerleading went very well with no major injuries and a lot of spirit provided for fellow Viking teams.

The cheerleaders are having a good time this year. "I love it! Cheering is so much fun!" said cheerleader Randa Polly. When asked what she likes about cheerleading Tiffany Watters said, "What I like most about cheering is getting to know my teammates well."

Despite much contraversy cheerleading is considered a sport. It is athletic and fun at the same time. "It always makes us crack up when my guy friends mock us from the stands while we are cheering." said Britni Fisher.

The varsity volleyball team welcomed a new coach this year. Head Coach Bennett and assistant coach Ken Lux did a great job this year and were dedicated the this team throughout the season. The season started out tough, but the ladies made it through to the end and had a fun time doing it. They played really hard and put a lot of effort into each and every game. When asked who their best match was against Lea Hummel thinks it was. "The second time we played McNary because we finally got into the game and played together."

For some of the girls being able to play was a normal thing, but for others it wasn't. Amelia Bryan's favorite memory was the first time she got to play. "I wasn't able to play for the first half of the season, so the time Coach told me I was finally going to play was my favorite memory." Whether it was having fun on the court or having fun off the court doing things like TPing Coach Bennett's house these girls kept it interesting and were dedicated throughout the season.

Despite some loses the girls still had a fun season. When asked what her favoite game was, Sherry Dirkx couldn't choose just one. "Uh... I loved them all!!" Not only did the girls gain skill and talent during the season they also gained new friendships and strengthened some old ones.

Haley Bolen

Throughout the start of fall sports, the North Salem volleyball program seemed to be the only sport without a complete new coaching staff. With not a huge change in technique and skill practices from the coaches, the volleyball program did exceptionally well. Having a great amount of freshman new to the program and to the school, the upperclassmen did a great job of getting them settled in. Their season shows that they were getting the hang of how things work. Coach Langley worked on their technique and the way they communicated and understood how to work as a team. Through some triumphs and obstacles that the freshmen faced, they came out on top and could help support the Viking volleyball program. One thing the freshmen are good at is looking at the upperclassmen and knowing what they can become in the future, therefore not letting themselves get down when something doesn't go their way. They showed great courage and commitment for the coming years. Keep up the pride and show your spirit for the sports programs at North Salem.

"Working hard paid off in the end."

Get Some Big Wins This Season

The boy's varsity basketball team started out strong the first half of the season, but struggled the second half, leaving the end of the season pretty rough. The boys missed playoffs by only 9 points in three 3-point losses. The losses were against West Albany at their house, and Sprague and Corvallis at home. Their season record was 8-16 overall and 6-12 in league, taking 7th place. The Vikings had some strong players to help them along the way. On the team was Mark Valentine, Most Valuable Player and the Viking leading scorer and Andrew Hemelstrand who was voted most inspirational.

Coach Goin was disappointed at not making playoffs but was proud to be the coach for the Vikings saying that the boys' gave a lot of effort in every game from beginning to end. "Wins over the playoff bowl against Churchill and a big win over South Salem were my favorite parts of the season." Coach Goin explains about two of the season's biggest wins. The biggest win for the fans would have to be the win over Viking rivals South Salem. From the senior class: Thanks for beating them in 2005 boys'!

The Boys' had a tight bond with each other, "Everybody was cool with everybody, but they always gave me crap because I was the young one on the team," Matt Wasson, who was a swinger for varsity said. Jeff Thomas a senior post said he had a lot of fun playing with this group of guy's this season. "I enjoyed playing with Tyler, Dan and Austin Holmes, A.K.A wet strokes." Even though the boys had a rough season they still made it intersting and fun to watch.

BOYS' JV BASKETBALL

Boys' JV Basketball was one of several North Salem teams that were introduced to new coaches this year. Kostanty Knurowski tok over as head coach and did a great job despite the fact that this was his first year. The team did well this season getting themselves some wins and some losses. Coach Knurowski worked hard, helping his team develop their skills and work together. In return the team played hard and tried their best, giving one hundred percent every game. The boys', gained a lot this year including skills, techniques, and also friendships. Coach Knurowski did an excellent job with these boys and helped them accomplish many goals they had set. Sounds like these boys are ready for next year.

All the boys' played and gained tons of experience and skill for their futures in basketball whether it be just playing through high school to going pro. Coach Cho believes that his team played the best in their games against Corvallis, South Salem, and West Albany, each game being the second time they played them. He says that, "We played competitively, which is a sign that they can play the rest of the teams." Although they didn't win a game this season each player is ready for their future years of basketball.

Lady Viks Overcome Many Obstacles

This season for the girls varsity basketball team didn't go as well as they had planned. Not only were the Vikings introduced to a new coach, they were plagued by the loss of several players throughout the course of the season. The new coach Mike Hayes was previously a coach for JV boys basketball. In addition to this the girls suffered the lose of Shayla Weiher, Alex Morrison, and Becca Johnston part way through the season. They also lost Sadie Ogan due to an injury that she suffered during a tournament over christmas break. The team brought up Vanessa Kitchin from JV and Anna Marchbanks from the frosh team to make up for the loss of these players.

Whitney Lee and Courtney McFadden were the team captains this year. They did an awesome job of leading the team throughout the season. Although the girls didn't win some of the games as they would have liked to, they still keep a positive outlook on the year due to the friendships made. "The team got along well. We made a lot of new friendships and strenghtened old ones." Whitney Lee says about the friends that she has gained through basketball. Sadie Ogan agrees also, saying, "We didn't have a winning season so it was hard to stay focused, but the team was awesome and we had fun!" Sounds like the girls had fun this season.

Kylee Nichols
What is your favorite memory of the season?
"Court and I making up our hand shake and doing it every game."

Lai Tern

This year was so much better. I loved it and can't wait 'til next year!"
Brittany Ryan

The girls JV basketball team started off strong in the begining of the season and left the season with a stuggle. There were many games that were close that the players and the coaches felt they could have won. In the first half of the season the Vikings played The South Salem Saxons on our court and took a victory. It was a big win for the girls, considering they're our rival school, but couldn't handle them in the second half of the season and went home with a loss. Another great game the girls played was against McNary; the score stayed even for most of the game and North held on to take it into overtime. Unfortunatly, McNary came out on top and beat the Vikings by 10 points. North came back with the big win the second time they played them at home.

The girls walked away from the season with their heads held high, although their record didn't show how well they played. "You can learn a lot from losing and not only can you learn a lot but you can gain a lot and it also brings the team together more to work even harder." Vanessa Kitchin said. The JV girls basketball team had a lot of unity and had a fun season together even though they didnt take a lot of wins, but the wins they did have, they made them count.

Although the team had a rough patch half way through the season, their high spirits helped them through it and they got back on track finishing out well. Coach Stickles and the girls had their fair share of laughs and triumphs and managed to stay positive. The girls worked hard each and every day willing to improve their skills to better their experience.

This winter North had a kickin' swim team! From the new freshmen to the experienced seniors, they had an awesome season. The swim team was larger this year than last year and they're looking forward to an even bigger and better team next year.

The Viking swim team accomplished a great amount this year through the training from the two new coaches, Kyla Bond and Jodi Betthauser. Every weekday the swim team had vigorous work-outs both in and out of the water. On Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays they would start with a dry-land work-out consisting of push-ups, crunches, lunges, etc. And on Tuesdays and Thursdays they had the option to run at least two miles before getting in the water. Everyday after dry-land practice they'd swim for an hour and a half and their warm-up alone was 1,000 yards, or 40 lengths of Olinger pool. They also worked on dives, flip-turns, breathing techniques, and the different strokes, which really helped at the weekly dual meets.

North's boys' team was outstanding this year! Some of the fantastic swimmers that led the way for the team were: John Wilhelmi, Joey Howe, Garrett Fisher, Kyle Jacobe, and Kurt Juengling. The speedy seniors were John Wilhelmi, Konrad Juengling, and Paco Padilla.

The girls' team has several unbelievably skilled swimmers. Katherine Tomscha qualified for state in two events and not far behind were: Marianna Fortune(who had a shoulder injury), Whitney Robinson, and Courtney Dawes. The excellent zooming senior this year was Betsy McDonald.

With several freshmen, sophomores and juniors returning nest year, you can look forward to another good season. Grab your goggles and try something new. Join the fun next year!

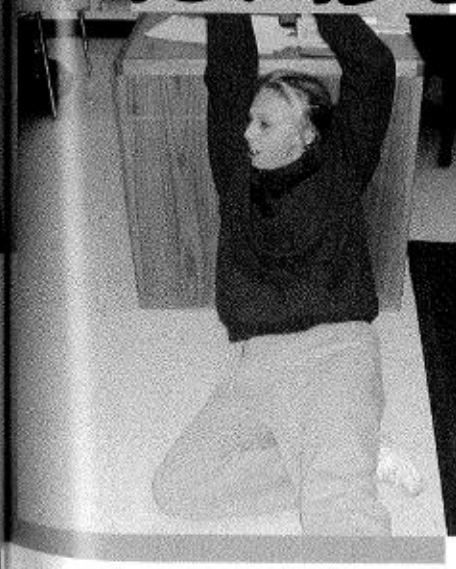
ACADEMICS



CHOIR

Sing your hearts out

Time for sectionals!!

"We need people for choir."
Alex Beeken

"Choir is a non-stop party."
Sheri Bloom

There was a new addition to this year's choir and that was Dr. Burtis. He came all the way from California to teach the fine art of vocals to our North Salem Vikings.

The North Salem Choir was part of the overall help of getting our Viking music department a music Grammy, which is a source of great pride to our school.

A few of the choirs that were going on this year were Northern Lights, Swing Choir, and Chorale.

We hope to see Dr. Burtis stay with North for a long time because he is a great asset to our school. Oregon may not be as sunny as California but it has just as much pride in its schools.

Orchestra

Webster defines music as "the art of organizing tones to produce a coherent sequence of sounds intended to elicit an aesthetic response in a listener." But what does Webster know!To the orchestra students at North Salem High School, music is their passion. According to Jeanette Oleman, "ORCHESTRA ROCKS! In a classical sense." Last year the Chamber Orchestra placed fourth in state competition and not only are they hoping to go to state again this year but they are also attending an orchestra festival in Reno. Its definitely been a great year! Chamber Orchestra's very own bass player, Trevor Robinson was also named second in the nation and won a new bass!

"I like Mr. Garrett because he makes me feel better about myself." Ricci Cande

"There's a lot of great people in Orchestra, wacky ones; but still." Katherine Tomscha

"Orchestra is cool, but Anya really needs to straighten up." Carl Leighty

"I sleep most of the time" Andrew Juul

Play Your Heart Out

"Oh yeah! Reno! Bring it on!" Jeanette Oleman

We're going to Reno, we want to gamble....oh yeah, and we get to play music. Betsy McDonald

I hate it when my g-string breaks during a gig. Trevor Robinson

"Orchestra is like a box of chocolates, you never know what you're gonna get." Jared Lowe

Band

Hit that high note

Students of the band ready to play

"We're attempting to do new and revolutionary things in the music performance world, most of our music is out of the box." James Parton a member of North's Wind Ensemble talks about the new and exciting music the band has been tackling all year long. The wind ensemble took second place in state competition and so far has had an awesome year; the Wind Ensemble took first place at the Lewis and Clark Band Festival and is looking forward to this year's state competition. North's band program is not only respected by our district, but by the whole Northwest. They take pride in their music and are proud to known as some of the best.

"Band keeps you occupied and away from bad influences." Bryan Anderson

"Band makes you important because you're a part of a big creation from multiple ideas." Jeremiah Xiong

English

Pfft.English, who needs that?I'm never going to England. -Homer

"Mr.Gilman rocks!"
Nick Davey

Here at north, you are required to have a minimum of three English credits to graduate. NSHS provides many opportunities for Vikings to receive these credits and still take classes that appeal to them such as: Creative writing, Research Paper or SAT prep.
□English can become a tedious and boring class if the English teachers are dull and serious. The teachers here at North try to make it as painless as possible by cracking a few jokes here and there that may not be very funny (they are only teachers after all, not comedians) but you have to give them credit for trying.
-Jessica Moore

Foreign Language

Students at NSH have the opportunity to take a foreign language such as Spanish, French, German and Japanese, to name a few. Many students have a good time in their foreign classes.I asked a few people what they thought about their classes. "It's a funny experience that I will never forget, says freshman, Emilia Morales.

Apparently French is a very popular language. "Take French! C'est genial!" said a very energetic Stacey Walen. "You learn a lot about Paris. The French language is the bomb!" says Vilayluc Phane, A.K.A Lucky.

•Some foreign language classes give you the opportunity to discover first hand what the lifestyle is really like in the country that you are studying. For example our French class took a trip to Paris, France over the summer. Also, the Japanese class went to Japan. They had a lot of fun and hope to have the opportunity to go again in the future.

"Learning a second language is challenging, so I chose Spanish so that I could use it after high school...if I can remeber it." Heather Gallegos

"Most people who take Japanese find it interesting and challenging." Mr.Flood

Health

North health classes help students be healthy in all three aspects of the health triangle Social, Physical, and Mental.

There are many types of health classes offered here at North like Medical Terminology one and two , basic health one and two, sports medicine , and health occupations to name a few .

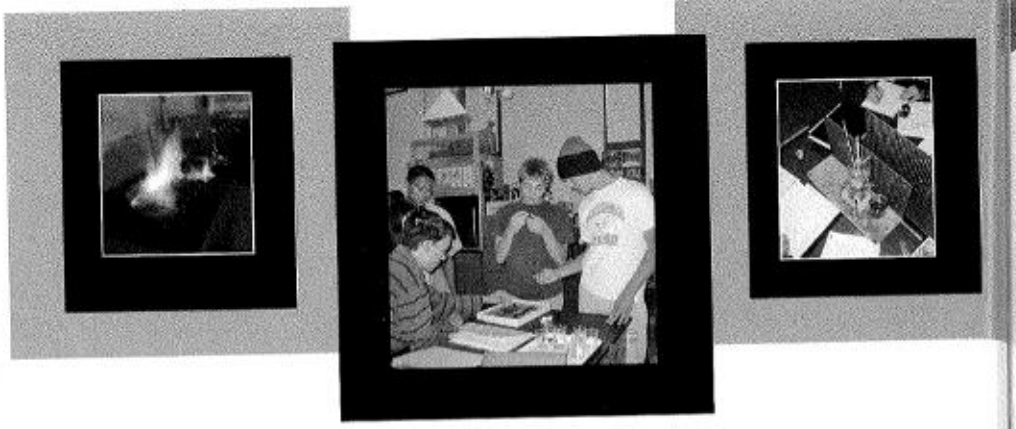
Health classes can teach you have to eat and how to exercises to be fit , how to prevent or take care of injuries , you can meet lots of friends while doing the many health activities , and how to become a healthy person.

"I think that when you have a really good teacher Health is a lot of fun." says April Crismen.

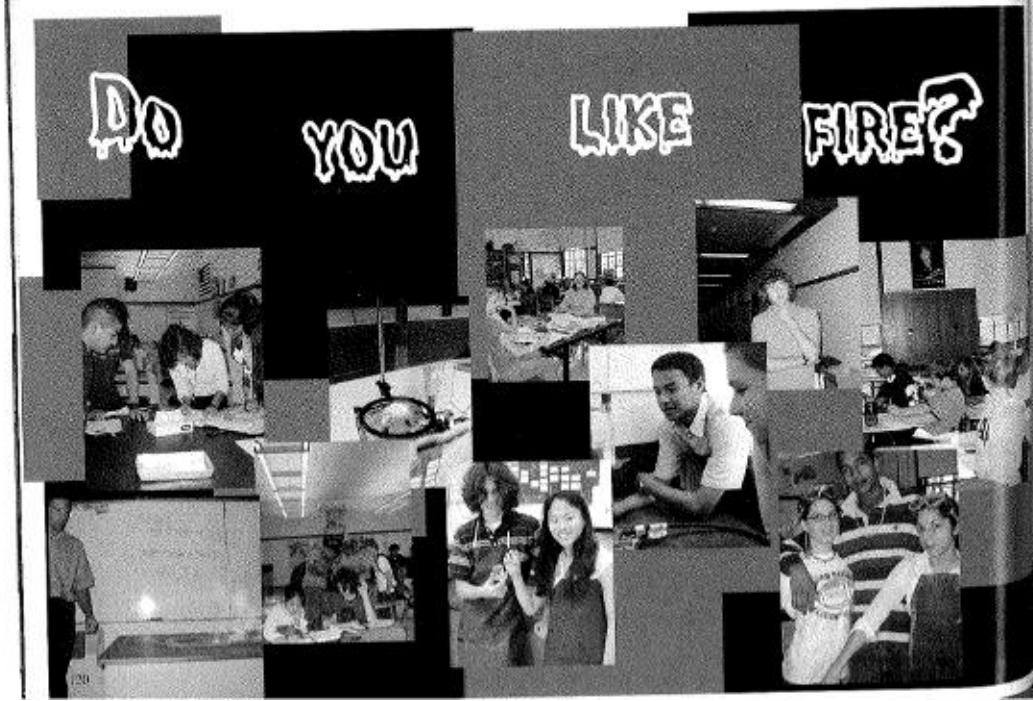
Health can help you be successful out of the classroom. You can have first aid training to earn your first aid card, you can be in a class that explores different occupations in the field of medicine, and can also give you nurses training which if you complete the program can help you get a job at a nursing home.

"I can't wait till I'm a senior so that I can take part of the nursing classes here at North! I love helping people and plus you can earn a lot of money . . . Well for a high school student anyways." says freshmen Brianna.

So check out Health and you'll see it's worth a try .



Science



Science! A class in which you learn the elements of life and the chemical reactions of multiple elements. But more importantly, it is a class where you are aloud to tamper with fire and play with dead animals! "Out of all my classes, science is the only one I look forward to each year. It is always full of surprises," said Ben Pearson. With pyro teachers like Mr. Stickles and with Mr. Swartzentruber's corny jokes, science classes at North Salem High are anything but boring. From classroom to classroom the scent of sulfur and the scene of burning tables bring a new meaning to science at North Salem High School.

I like chemistry because it's neat to learn about chemical reactions and fire, lots of fire.
-Heather Gallegos.

We like to blow stuff up!!
-Bryan Valera-Gengler and Whitney Robinson.

" Just call me Bill Nye."
-Moriah Riffe

Leadership

The behind-the-scenes crew on the stage of North Salem student life is called Leadership. The group, compiled of both elected and non-elected Vikings is lead by first year Viking teacher, Amy Divelbiss. Leadership kids roam the halls during 4th block doing everything from hanging signs to hitting up teachers to chaperone dances, updating the reader board or recruiting peers to participate in pep assemblies.

Do you ever wonder who moves the tables aside for you to shake yer groove thang at dances? Or where the themes for Homecoming and Wintercourt are conceived? The answer is Leadership.

Leadership kids attend an annual conference in Seaside called Oregon Association of Student Councils. This is the ultimate impress-other-kids-your-age-with-your-school-spirit weekend event. Lots of ideas and phone numbers are exchanged (especially if you are Roberto Rios) at this event. Leadership kids also mentor Highland elementary students in math and delegate grant funds to non-profit organizations.

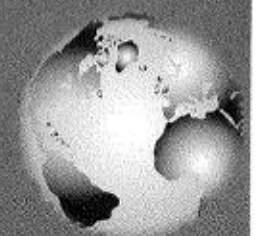
The class is relatively unstructured and at times, extremely stressful. "Leadership students must be organized and enthusiastic to finish all of the projects we do. "It does get hectic at times, but it's worth it because it's fun" says Ms. Divelbiss.

Vikings elected to represent the Associated Student Body at North Salem during the 04-05 school year are: Jase Adams, Chen Madrigal, Nadia Saechao, Megan Thomas and Jasmine Zimmer-Stucky.

Teachers Of Words Wisdom

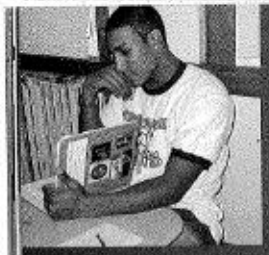
Life Lesson #1:
"Life is a banquet and half the poor suckers are starving."
Mr.Finck

"Think for yourselves...don't buy into the "current" trends." A democracy is a group of bold individualists, not sheep. Dissent, questioning of authority are pre-requisites for any citizen in the our American system."
Mr.Borowski



"Wisdom? I don't have any wisdom!" Mr.Davis

Read a book!! Mrs.Kinnett



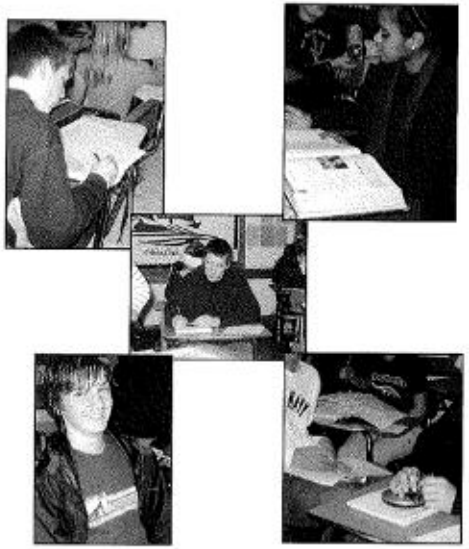
History Back in the day

"History's a great class. I get to learn about my grandpa's friends."
-Ryan Brandt

"Tomorrow is a vision of hope and enjoy Golden Eyed Joe."
Mr. Stack

"Stack, I freakin' love you!"
-Cam Beesley

When people think about history, they think about boring old people, and a lot of dates that they have to memorize. Some people simply excel at history just because they enjoy the way the teachers teach. Our teachers at North Salem High School only hope to have the students learn something in their class, and if that means goofing off to make the curriculum fun then they will adjust themselves to the student's level. This two and a half credit course allows the students to choose whether to be an average Joe in the average classes, or attempt to stick it out with the advanced placement courses (AP). So whether you're in the average classes, or in the AP courses you can never go wrong in any history class at North Salem, but I guess since the average student can only remember 10% of what they learn, the rest is history.



Math

"Mrs. Rothrock makes math a whole new experience." is one sentiment about math from Vanessa Kitchin.
Although people always say that math is useless and you will never use it again, math is used in everyday life. It can help you with a future career. Math can also help with understanding the newspaper. In sections such as Business, political and also the scientific stories that are helping improve our lives.
Annie Alexander's favorite part of math was singing the quadratic song, one of the little tricks to remembering formulas in math class for your test, or to just get stuck in your head.
And in words by Mr. Ward's "Polynomials are great!"

B squared minus 4AC all over 2A

Math.....Beau Craig says he does it for the ladies.

"MATH is too easy."

P.E./Weights

"Weights class is fun, you get really strong." Jon Humphreys

For half of a PE. credit it's a good workout and a fun class. You can chose from advanced to beginner, if you don't want that hard of a workout. Since 1983 the weights class has allowed North students to bench press, squats, and a incline workout. This year teaching weights is Coach Ramirez and Coach Kerry. This is the second year North freshman are allowed to take the weights class. You might want to be in this class if you want to get into better shape or for half a PE. credit. Many people get into weights for sports, and some get in the class to get in better shape.

"It's an easy credit." Rekom Keppinger

"It's hard, you run a lot, but it's fun" Laurence Conord

NEWS PRODUCTION

"Seeing Davis wear the pink bunny ears and listening to him sing his weird music," are Annie Alexander's favorite memories from News Production.

Whether it is furiously working on the yearbook or frantically putting something together for the newspaper, there was always something for everyone to do in the News Production class. Especially thanks to the "I'm bored board" which was put together by the editors to ensure that everyone always has something to do.

Amanda Tilley headed up the yearbook along with editors Annie Alexander (sports), Genna Nunez (academics), Konrad Juengling (clubs), Larissa Dean (senior), and Tracee Thorpe (student life). This team of editors came together to create a great yearbook, persevering through all of the hardships.

But News Production is not all about the yearbook. It is also about The Clarion, our school newspaper which was placed on the shoulders of Junior Michael Farr.

News Production is full of fun and good times but also involves hard work and dedication.

"You'll never believe how fun the newspaper is, you should join!" Michael Farr

"Squares are so hot right now!" Tracee Thorpe and Genna Nunez

The E.T. members compete in many events with their horses, including barrel racing, roping, trail, team flags, individual flags, dressage, steer daubing, jumping, showmanship, poles, figure 8, drill team and Saddle Seat. In this years IHOR competition, North placed an impressive fifteenth place. Members include: Katie Hardy, Austin Vollmer, Anya Vignolle, Brittany Barner and Kelsey Slocum.

Members include: Andrew Juul, Tom Briskie, Ben Pearson, Kevin Stitch, Bryant McDaniel, Zachary Miller, Ryan Gowey, Tiffany Cande, Lelia Luna, Tiffany Watters, Will Thompson, Loren Francis, Joey Howe, Guillermo Froylen, and Luis Solano. Japanese Club

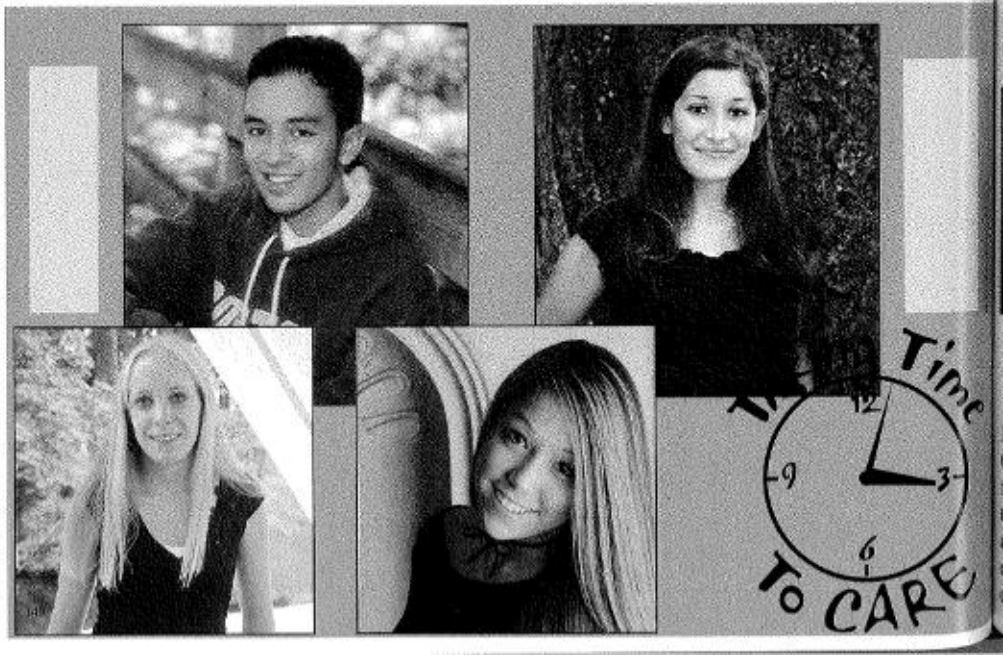
Japanese Club is for students at North who are interested in the Japanese language and culture. Mr. Flood is the Japanese teacher and club advisor, and helps the students learn the language. With Mr. Floods guidance, the club votes on activities that they want to participate in and things that they want to see that have to do with Japan. One of the trips that the club took this year was to visit the Japanese gardens in Portland. Adam Wigant (Junior) says, "I have a fun time learning the Japanese language because I have a fun time impressing the foreigners." -Contributions by Adam Wigant, Japanese Club Treasurer (Junior)

"Rainen no kono hi ki issho ni waratte you."

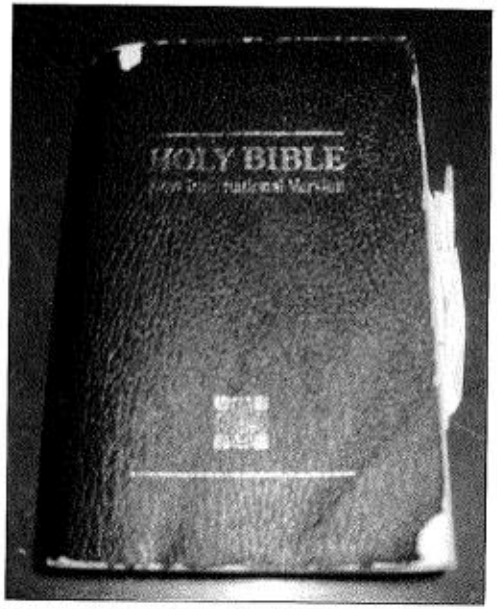
Rotary

Rotary is a new club that was introduced this year with the help of Mrs. Divelbiss, Sara Do and Chon Madrigal. Students that are involved in the club do service work to better the community. They have helped at the Habitat for Humanity, the Humane Society, and the Union Gospel Mission along with other projects. Weekly meetings are held to brainstorm ideas of how to make a difference. Rotary is a valuable experience that will leave you with a smile.



The Connection

The Connection is a newly-formed club at North that was formerly known as The Flame' last year. Christians that want to reach out to others and strengthen eachother in their faith can meet each Wednesday or before school each day in the Main Hall for praying. These students pray, discuss bible-related topics, read from the bible, and have a good time. They also want to get the message out that they are here to support eachother and have a good time with other students while doing it.



Shayla Lacy (11): Why is the Connection important to North?

Its important because the Christians in this school feel as if they are alone in their faith, and this club allows them to support eachother and reach out to others.

Sarah Stewart (11): What 'Connection' activity do you enjoy the most?

Praying. We pray before school each day and on Wednesdays when we meet for club meetings.

Arika Hubbard (12): What do you like best about the Connection?

I like being able to meet with everyone and take a break from the pressures of school.

Jenny Adams (11): Do you think that religion should be allowed in schools?

Yes, because it lets religious people reflect Christ.

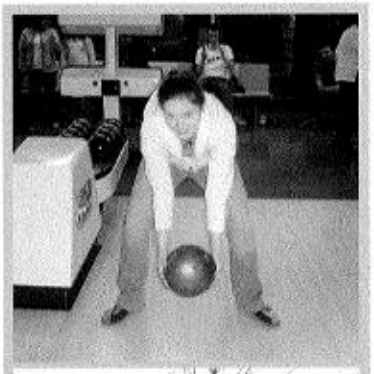
FBLA

Future Business Leaders of America

Not unlike years of the past, Viking FBLA has been a strong part of North Salem High School. However, the last two years have been by far the most successful in the chapter's history. Viking FBLA has received many awards since its reactivation in 2002 and has received 2nd chapter of the year twice.

Being led by a strong officer team, a great advisor, Mr. Abel, and the National FBLA president, Viking FBLA has prepared for the regional skills conference being held in Silverton, Oregon. North's chapter has recruited an astounding 135 members, the most in FBLA history. Computer technology teams have been arranged by Mr. Kirkwood, and Mr. Reams that are exceptional in skill.

The North Salem FBLA chapter has also been active in other events such as the March of Dimes and local community service efforts.



Viking FBLA and the Business Academy also mentored children from in the third and fourth grades at Marion Miller Elementary School. Continuing its tradition, the Viking FBLA branch met with much success in the involvement with the community service efforts. Viking FBLA and the Business Academy also mentored children from in the third and fourth grades at Marion Miller Elementary School. Continuing its tradition, the Viking FBLA branch met with much success in the involvement with the community.

The Viking FBLA is partnered with the Business Academy at North and is involved in running the cookie business that supplies the school with the delicious Otis Spunk Meyer cookies that many have come to love. The Chapter was also involved in running the MaPS credit union branch located within our building near the library.

- FBLA President Ivan Pointer

Salena Hunyh (Senior): What is the overall best FBLA expereince you've had through your years involved in the club?

I've met alot of people that have become good friends.

Ivan Pointer (Senior): What are the highlights of your events that you compete in?

They allow me to expand my professional expereince in publicatoin and technological careers, and of course be recognized in front of my peers.

Chon Madrigal (Senior): What do you like best about FBLA?

Its fun because all of the officers are fun and down to earth people.

Hilary Neidermeyer (Senior): Why would a student want to be involved in FBLA?

If you like to travel, if you like to meet new people and you like to have fun and do community service then FBLA is for you!

Sarah Van Overeem (Junior): What opportunities has FBLA presented for you?

It lets you get involved, you can meet new people and it challenges you just like class work.

The faces of FBLA

Club Med

Club Med is for students that are interested in the medical field for life after high school. These students belong to the Health Services academy that helps them along the road to developing long-term careers. Students participate in internships at Salem Hospital and work with hospital personel to expand their knowledge. Attending a cadaver was one of the opportunites that students were allowed to attend. One of the stressed points of the Health Services Academy is that they are there to help students expand their opportunites in the medical field, and workshops, internships and Mrs. Dourghtey's limitless knowledge are offered for just that reason.

Jessica Carr (12): What is the best thing about Club Med and the Health Services Academy?

The wide variety of career opportunities.

Courtney McFadden (12):

"Health Occupations is a good place to learn about job opportunities and meet new people."

Laurel Allen (12): What is the best thing about Club Med and the Health Services Academy?

All of the opportunities that are offered.

Jessica Jensen (11): What specialized skills have you learned from being involved with these programs?

CPR, First Aid, and teaching dental education.

Jessica Johnson (12): What is the most stressful situation that you have been in?

The community service directorships. It is so much work and we have no information to go off of.

Loren Williams (11):

"Nursing is like a box of chocolates. You never know what you are going to get."

NHS National Honors Society

National Honors Society is an elite group of Seniors who excel in leadership, service, character and acedemics. This year the society had 49 members. As members these North students helped better our community in many ways. Students volunteered in Interfaith Hospitality when they helped make a rec hall of a church into a place for poor homeless families to live. They also helped out at Safe Halloween and parent-teacher conferences here in our own buliding. NHS is also responsible for the running of North Salem Honors Night and helping with the Winter food drive. Organizing all these events were the officers and advisor or NHS. Beverly Pratt has been the advisor for 3 years. This year the officers were President Kristin Burke, Vice President Jessica Trammell, Secretary Amanda Sharp and Treasurer Kevin Stitch. By: Jessica Trammell

NHS members participate in a group service project. NHS does alot to help the community through many venues.

Genna Nunez (Senior): "I did it for the college applications but then forgot to put it on."

Jasmine Zimmer-Stucky (Senior): Do 7:00am meetings and selling entertainment books sound good to you? Then join National Honors Society!

Rachael Mitchell (Senior): "I like hanging out with smart people and eating donuts."

Cell Phones for Soldiers

This year even though it was not a club, a new organization was introduced to our own North Salem High School: 'Cell Phones For Soldiers', started up by Megan Collier and Shayla Lacy. After seeing the idea on Channel One, the two Juniors started up the organization. This program helps soldiers that are away in other countries keep in contact with their families that are back home in the United States. People donate their cell phones and others donate phone cards, and put together these are used for call time. This program is something original that helps families that cannot see each other and keep in contact, and it is a good way to get involved. Annie Alexander, who donated several phones, says, "It feels good to be able to help those soldiers in any way that I can who are fighting for us."

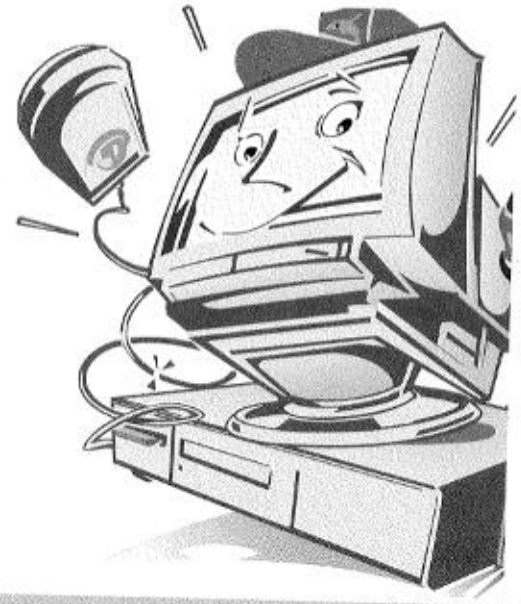
Megan Collier (11): Why do you feel that this program is so important?
It is important because soldiers should be able to keep in contact with their families.

Shayla Lacy (11): What were the difficulties you came across in starting a project like this?
The difficulties I faced were getting the word out, because nobody took this project seriously. It was discouraging, because donations were slow at first, but even one is worth it to keep famlies connected during this time.

Computers

Computers are an important part of our every-day lives. They help us ease work and entertain us with the internet and games. But behind the scenes, there are people that build computers and write lines of code to make programs that offer us either ease or entertainment. The students that are involved with the computer programs could be the 'Bill Gates' of tomorrow.

They learn how to operate the computer and programs systems and how to write Java and Sisco code. These programs offer students the chance for internships and to gain alot of knowledge that will be useful for a sucessful career in the future.



Ivan Pointer (12): Why did you get involved with Computers here at North?
Its a great way to prepare for a future in computers.

Kevin McClanahan (11): What is the most stressful thing involved with computers?

Fear of Kirkwood talking to my parents when I miss an assignment.

Nile Fox (11): Why did you join?
Gainage of 1337 HaxxOrage.

Kyle Paulson (11): What do you like about the computer curriculum?
Its fun and its eductional for future career opportunities.

Dressed to Kill

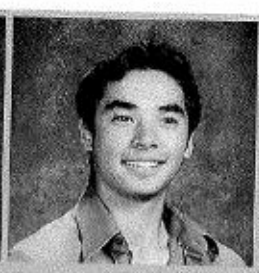
'Dressed to Kill' brightened North Salem with its Fall performances in our own historic auditorium. Directed by Eric Schutz, this play showcased the talents of many talented and aspiring North Salem acting students. Involved students included: Samantha Madderdom, Natasha Knudsen, Ryan Kihs, Lindsay Ferrell, Ariana Fenton, Katie Mikos, Benji Robison, Chon Madrigal, Crystal Kaufman, Reland Logan, Nathan Gneckow, Adam Wigant, Nick Sikel, Vanessa Stockton, Arika Hubbard, Rachel Mitchell, Krischelle Dumaguit, Stefanie Falk, Stacey Walen, Telissa Bissell, Rebekah Mitchell, Jaque Woodall, Danielle Helt, April Chisman, Laurence Concord, Ashley Wright, Kirstin Keasey, Brooke Beaseley, Kristin Middleton, Jackie Wilson, Todd Underwood, Becky Jennings, and Samantha Schorr. This play, 'Dressed to Kill', follows the story of two young ladies working in a designer's studio. They find out, through a series of unfortunate events, that the head designer was murdered and go about trying to solve the case. This play offers scenes that are sure to be remembered, including the talented Vanessa Stockton as Mrs. Billingsly, who roared "Clayton!" with such conviction.

Stacey Walen (09): What the worst part of being involved in the play?

The costumes. Mine was agreen vynil body suit that was a size too small.

Samantha Madderom (11): Why do you act?

In high school it is so hard to keep our identity, but in drama you become someone entirely different and you are allowed to do things that you would not normally do.



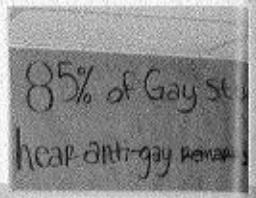
Adam Wigant (11):

I joined drama for its diversity and challenge it offers. The heat of the stage lights, the open croud waiting to hear the next line, the thrill knowing that you are an actor.

Linsday Farrell (12): What was the best part about the play?

Hanging out with everyone at rehearsals acting crazy.

Gay-Straight Alliance



The Gay-Straight Alliance was introduced three years ago to North Salem High School. It was the Senior Project of Brian Cook who founded GSA to help promote tolerence. The GSA's mission is to spread awareness to all students and teachers, gay and straight alike.

Acceptance is important for all people, and the club is trying to spread that message. Tolerance and awareness posters were put up in the main halls and students signed the posters to show support. Candy canes were also passed out to students around Christmas break with the clubs metting times attatched.

Club members also work with the Rainbow Youth, a gay youth group here in Salem. Club members include: Christine Roth, Danton Doss, Christine Ratto, Jessie Broughton and Alejandro Mendoza. The club advisor is Karen Kinnett. The Club President is Jessie Broughton, who says, "I am proud to say that I am the President of such a wonderful club. I would love to see the North Salem High School G.S.A. continue through my senior year. Our club support can only continue if we have people attend. I hope everyone who supports our cause will come to our meeting next year." -Konrad Juenging with contributions by Jessie Broughton

MECHA

The MEChA club is a group aimed at Hispanic youth who attend North Salem and want to learn more about their heritage and culture. The MEChA club participates in a number of activities, including 'Make a difference day', where they help out at the park, Dia de Los Muertos, known to us as 'Day of the Dead', and Sinco de Mayo. The club participates in the Sinco de Mayo assembly that entertains us all May 5th. Latino students that want to help out in the community and have fun while learning more about their culture should look into the MEChA experience.

Vice President Blanca Cabrera and President Paola Sumoza - both friends and club officers.

Marching Band

The show that the North Salem Marching Band performed this year was "New World Era," written and composed by Lewis Norfleet. Not only does he write the music, but he also writes the drill. Mr. Norfleet decides where each and every spot for the Marching Band members and color guard will be. The North Salem High School Marching Band grew geatly from 94 students to over 125.

If the marching band is not competing, then they are practicing with dedication. They meet three times a week to practice and are always memorizing new music.

Marching Band is a lot of hard work, but it is all worth it. "The fun isn't in the late afternoon and night practices. All the fun happens right before you step onto the field, when a huge adrenaline rush pumps into your system," says Miranda Mathae, and NSH Junior. She has put into words what every member of the North Salem Marching band feels. Each of them put their lives on hold to help bring some recognition to North. - Desiree Shippey (Junior)

Kenzi Clements (12): What instrument did you play?

The alto Sax.

What is the worst part about Marching Band?

The people that stink out of the field from being so hot!

The Best?

Meeting new people.

Amanda Cox (12): What has been the most rewarding experience in Marching Band?

I like knowing we worked as hard as we could and accomplished something in the end.

Heather Birkett (12): How did the Frosh do this year?

The Freshman did good, and caught on fast with help from the Seniors.

Brandon Bicknell (10): What part did you enjoy the most?

I thought the trips were awesome and I got to know everyone better. It helped with the field performance.

Heather Pearson (11): What was your favorite memory?

My favorite memory of Marching Band was when we went to California on our competitions.

Colorguard

Colorguard is a sport for the ladies of NSH to get involved and join in the school spirit. It is a physicially challenging sport that is a mix of manuevers of flags, rifles, and dancing. These girls perform at the games and go to competitions and work with the marching band to bring recognition and pride to North.

Crystal Norton (12): What is the best part about Color Guard?

I would have to say that it was the friendships and bonds that were made throughout the season.

Jessica Glantz (10): What was the most challenging thing about Color Guard?

Getting everything on the right count.

Lladro Finster (12): What was the worst thing about Color Guard?

Everything but the competitions, although Winter Guard and practices were fun.

Lee Finster (10): What was the best part about Color Guard?

That would definately have to be the competitions.

When asked if she would like to know the future or go to the future, Abby Burks stated, "I would want to know the future to see where my life is headed."

Brenna Ryan would like to be superman instead of Lex Luther with kryptonite so she can save the world from destruction and mayhem.

If Ashley Nunley and Tessa Wadsworth could choose to be on America's Most Wanted or America's Dumbest Criminals, they both agreed America's Dumbest Criminals. For the simple fact that they would be famous for being stupid.

(Below) Kurt Juengling said he would want to live "underwater, how else would I practice for the swim team!"

Andrew Juul picked "America's dumbest criminals," because he could "entertain people while doing stupid stuff."

"Underwater world because the little mermaid was my favorite movie," replied Candace Monohan on her choice between an underwater world or a colony on the moon.

Sherry Dirkx would be on "America's Dumbest Criminals, because that means I got caught on tape for doing something that makes me laugh. It was a good idea when I did it."

Left: Brittany Bradd would like to "live in poverty and die peacefully" if she had to choose.
Right: Dan Kimsey would like to "know the future" instead of going to the future.
Below Left: "Lex Luther" is Melissa Boaz's first choice instead of Clart Kent.
Below Right: Junior Michael Musalf would like to "live in an underwater world" rather than a colony on the moon.

Right: Rocky Gimby chose to "be in poverty and die peacefully" without a second thought for being rich and dying in anguish.

Sophomore Gossip

Timmay Ellington would rather be Superman than Lex Luther with kryptonite.

Rachel Hazen would choose to transfer to South Salem as her choice of rival schools because it is better.

Kyle Dawson would like to be on America's Most Wanted.

Zach Parent on the other hand would choose America's Dumbest Criminals.

Brandon Kuderer would pick West Salem over any other rival school because it is in West Salem.

Kevin Palomino would rather live on the moon than in an underwater world.

What would you choose?

Would you rather live in an underwater city or live on a colony on the moon? "I would live underwater because I love the ocean," said Jordyn Wilson.

Andrew Thomas says that he would want to know the future to see what it holds for him.

(above) Benji Robison has his own words to live by. "Hate regrets more than apologizes."
(below left) "I want to know the future so I can help people that are in harm," commented Roberto Ricalday.
(below right) When Tiffany Watters was asked if she would like to be on America's Most Wanted or America's Dumbest Criminals, she said "America's Most Wanted because I would rather be thought smart than dumb."

Brad Brandon relpied that he would want to be on "America's Most Wanted instead of America's Dumbest Criminals because it is a tight show."

(above) Haley Bolen would like to be Superwoman because "I could help people and I would be really strong."
(below right) "Lex Luther because if Superman wanted to hurt me, I could use kryptonite against him," replied Amber Urban when asked about Superman and his rival Lex Luther.
(below left) When asked to choose between America's Most Wanted and America's Dumbest Criminals, David Montiel said he would like to "be a criminal because the people on America's Most Wanted are smart and don't get caught for doing things."

Going to the future

"I would like to go to the future because I don't want to know what happens until I experience it," commented Jacqueline Arrezola about her life in the future.

When Arianna Fenton was asked to define her personal clothing style, she said, "I wanted to be unique from everyone else to break through stereotypes, and I've been really surpirsed at all the positive comments I've received. I'm tired of everyone looking the same, almost like clones."

To My Daughter Tyann,
With Love

I have enjoyed the journey we have traveled these past 18 years.
You have truly been the star in my night and the sun in my day.
You have taught me a lot and brought so much joy to my life.
Tyann, one part of your life has come to an end.
But more exciting adventures are headed your way.
You have always worked hard to reach your goals.
You have always had a positive attitude.
Don't be afraid to stick to your beliefs, set goals, listen to your emotions,
Adhere to your values and enter friendships with good people.
I will always continue to cherish and love everything about you.
Thank you Tyann for all the good years and all the love you show me.
Your dad would be so proud to see you now.

All my love, Mom

Devin

Class of 2005

No parents could be prouder of their child. Court, you're the best! We Love You!!

Mom and Dad

January 6, 2005: Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow

For Uadre, Looking forward to graduation.

There we were, your Mom and I,
eighteen years on the other side of yesterday,
watching and waiting for you to arrive.

Astonishing! You - determined to your Mother - determined to hold and I - determined to watch

you slip out, face up, an angel's kiss upon your forehead, and clearing your lungs - you were the life in our daughter's cry.

The days, like weeks, the years crept by - you crawled, you toddled, stumbled and walked and you were the meaning inside your words.

We watched you take deep breaths, blow your heart across an instrument, and
God, you were the music in your flute.

You pursued everything that seemed to make you smile - music to marching, to flag waving, to cheering, and on to being the passion in your dance.

Now, here we are, your Mom and I,
eighteen years on the other side of your birth, wanting only joy in your life, meaning in your pursuits, music in your celebrations, and the magic of passion - passion for everything you do, everyone you love - so that you, looking back from eighteen years on the other side of tomorrow,

will be soothed to sleep by a life well lived,
and burrow deep into the summer of your beginning,
when you thought you had forever.

All Our Love, Mom and Dad.
